

Mr. Shail Shakya student of RMLNLU won the Manupatra Annual Essay Competition 2009.

Manupatra (A premier legal database company) is organizing Manupatra Annual Essay Competition for law students. The results of the Essay Competitions for 2009 were declared yesterday which is available on the manupatra Website. This year first prize has been bagged by Mr. Shail Shakya, IVth year student of RMLNLU. He will be given cash prize of Rs. 20,000/- and Dr. Ram Manohar Lohiya national Law University wins award for the college from which the winning entry has come. On the eve of Christmas day a lot of jubilation has come among the faculty members, staff and well wishers of the university.

Prof. Balraj Cjauhan commented that this is the beginning of the achievements of the students in the coming days. There will be many to celebrate as now this university is progressing steadily with the help of students to achieve distinction amongst the law universities.