

Release of the Book on "Terrorism and Anti-Terror Laws"

High Court, Mediation and Conciliation Centre organized a 12 hours mediation and training workshop for fresh batch of mediators on the campus of Dr. Ram Manohar Lohiya National Law University, Lucknow.

The event was inaugurated by honorable Chief Justice Mr. Markandey Katju, Judge Supreme Court of India. Event was presided over by Justice F.I. Rebello, Chief Justice Allahabad High Court. Speaking on this occasion everyone highlighted the growth and importance of mediation and the role of mediators. Justice D.P.Singh illustrated the role of lawyers as mediators which improves their role in public. They said that mediation keep intact the relationships and gives them the hope of surviving. Sri Ram Panchu, Senior Advocate, Chennai and Master Mediator said that earlier the only way to solve the dispute was to fight as warrior but now the scenario has changed and is shifting towards more peaceful and optimistic way. Chief Justice F.I. Rebello discussed about the high success rate in mediation center in Allahabad High court. Justice Katju stated the very recent case of mediation involving two states which would be happening for the first time in India. He also emphasized on the need of a better infrastructure for mediation and conciliation centre of high court bench at lucknow. A book titled “terrorism and anti terror laws” edited by Prof. Balraj Chauhan, Mridul Srivastava and K.A.Pandey was also released on this occasion. The book is based on a discourse on terrorism that took place in the university and includes the writings of eminent legal luminaries.

